Employability Skills
Even before our participation in the EEQ we had begun shifting our focus towards increasing authentic assessments in our curriculum.

Participating in the pilot, collaborating with other instructional leaders, and reviewing the EEQ criteria together has inspired us to continue with this initiative, and it’s provided us with a great guide for designing and improving our authentic assessments.
Standard III:B Appropriate Program Outcomes: The program outcomes are measureable and reasonably attainable through distance education. Appropriate program outcomes clearly communicate the knowledge, skills, and abilities students will obtain upon completion of the educational offering.

Program outcomes reflect the level of student achievement expected that promotes

• critical thinking
• ethical reasoning
• social responsibility
• global citizenship
• civic engagement
• lifelong learning

as applicable to educational offerings.

Standard III:B 6 Degree Programs: Describe how the degree program outcomes communicate the expected skills, knowledge, attitudes, and insights students will achieve upon completion of the program.
Challenging

Compare all of our own programs to see how well we
• Meet the EEQs
• Gather student feedback
• Gather employer input and feedback
• Gather alumni feedback
• Assess student learning

A Part of Our Continuous Improvement

Provide scaffolding for students.

Don’t just redesign assignments to now include skills in a work context, but demonstrate and teach those skills.

For example, we turned a writing assignment into a power point presentation, so we provided detailed power point how-to’s.

For a portfolio assignment, I created a portfolio to photograph.
A Part of Our Continuous Improvement
Allen and Seaman (2017) report that there are now more than six million students engaged in online education.

That includes Ashworth and your institution.

Together we can work to make sure that although one size doesn’t fit all, employability skills do!

Some Questions for Discussion

- How might you see the EEQ CERT supporting the work that programs at your institution are doing regarding preparing students for the complex world of work in the 21st century?
- How might the EEQ CERT complement or supplement your DEAC accreditation and/or accreditation from specialized accreditors?
- What opportunities might the EEQ initiative provide programs or your institution?
- What challenges might you see in pursuing the EEQ CERT?
- What suggestions do you have for The QA Commons as we continue to develop the EEQ CERT?
